Typical approved spacing of body text
To be followed around all elements
